Rendezvous at S.D.'s Hottest Date-Night Hotels

Jan 21st 2011 3:00PM / by Cara Clinton

If your idea of a romantic evening involves takeout food, a couch and a remote control, it may be time to get drastic. Step away from the chopsticks and reality TV and plan a date night at one of San Diego's many couple-friendly hotels. Wine and dine your date, cozy up in a private setting and choose from a host of overnight packages intended to set the mood. You'll feel like you're on a romantic getaway -- and you don't even have to leave the city.

Andaz: Formerly the Ivy Hotel, this hot spot is home to the Ivy Nightclub, Ivy Rooftop lounge and sundeck and Ivy Wine Bar -- all great places to impress someone new or get that spark back with your longtime flame. As part of its "Flights of Fancy" package, guests who book a room get a $50 gift card to the Ivy Wine Bar, where they can attend a tasting, sample 88 wines from around the world, or share their favorite bottle and a phenomenal view. Andaz will also create a customized "Love Goes Around" package that can include a number of highlights such as in-room wine service and breakfast for two.
